

Wikifactory celebrates
World Engineering Day for Sustainable Development

MARCH 2020

Wikifactory is a social platform for collaborative product development.

We connect the next generation of product developers with each other and with the tools to accelerate their work.

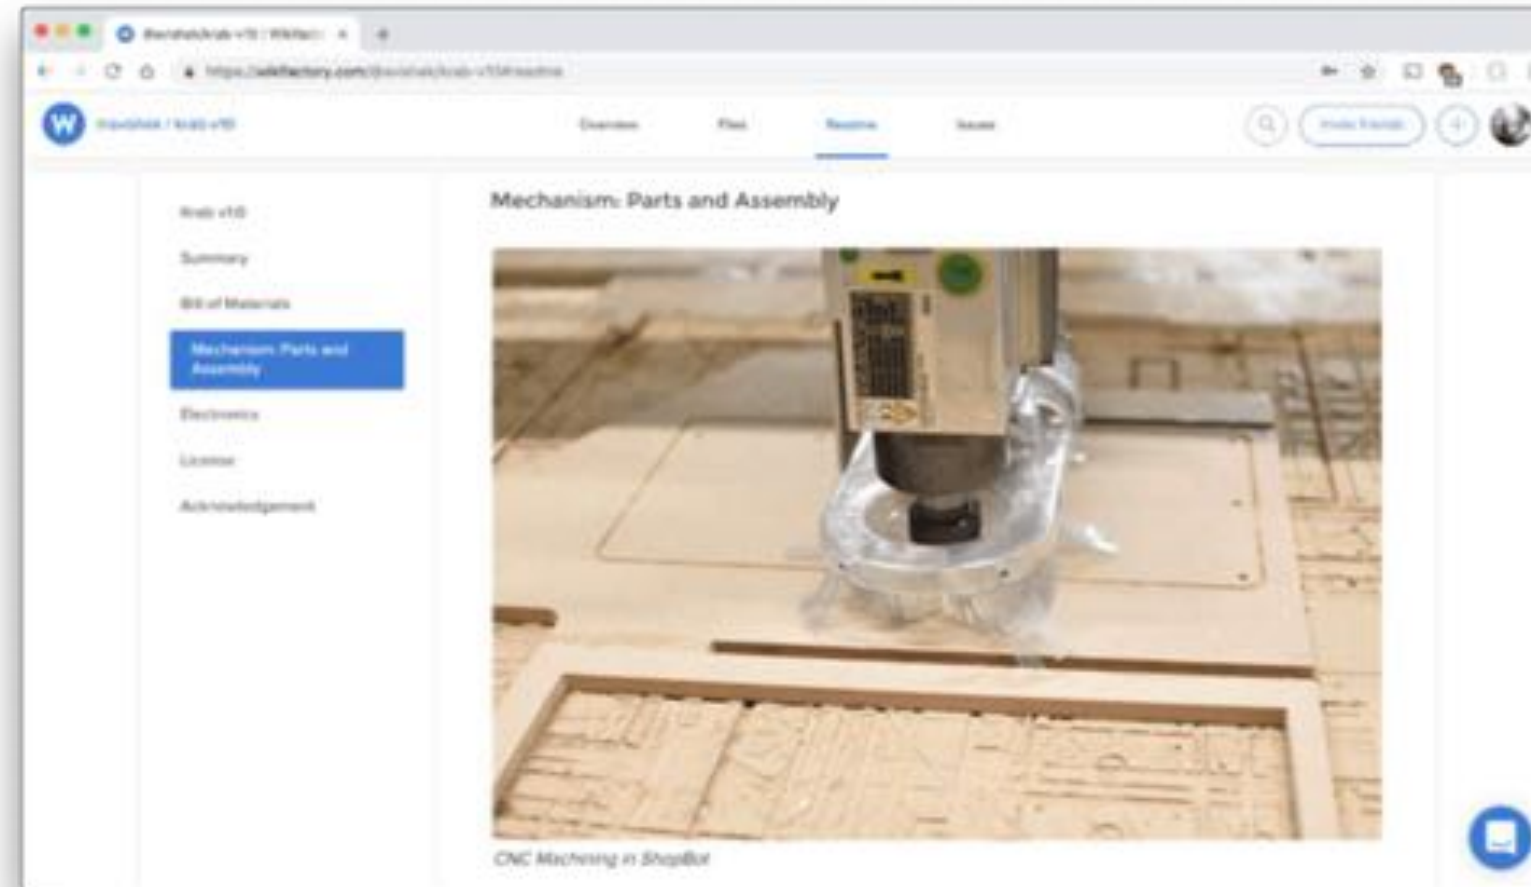

A growing online community of more 9K designers, makers engineers, technologists and other creative problem solvers.

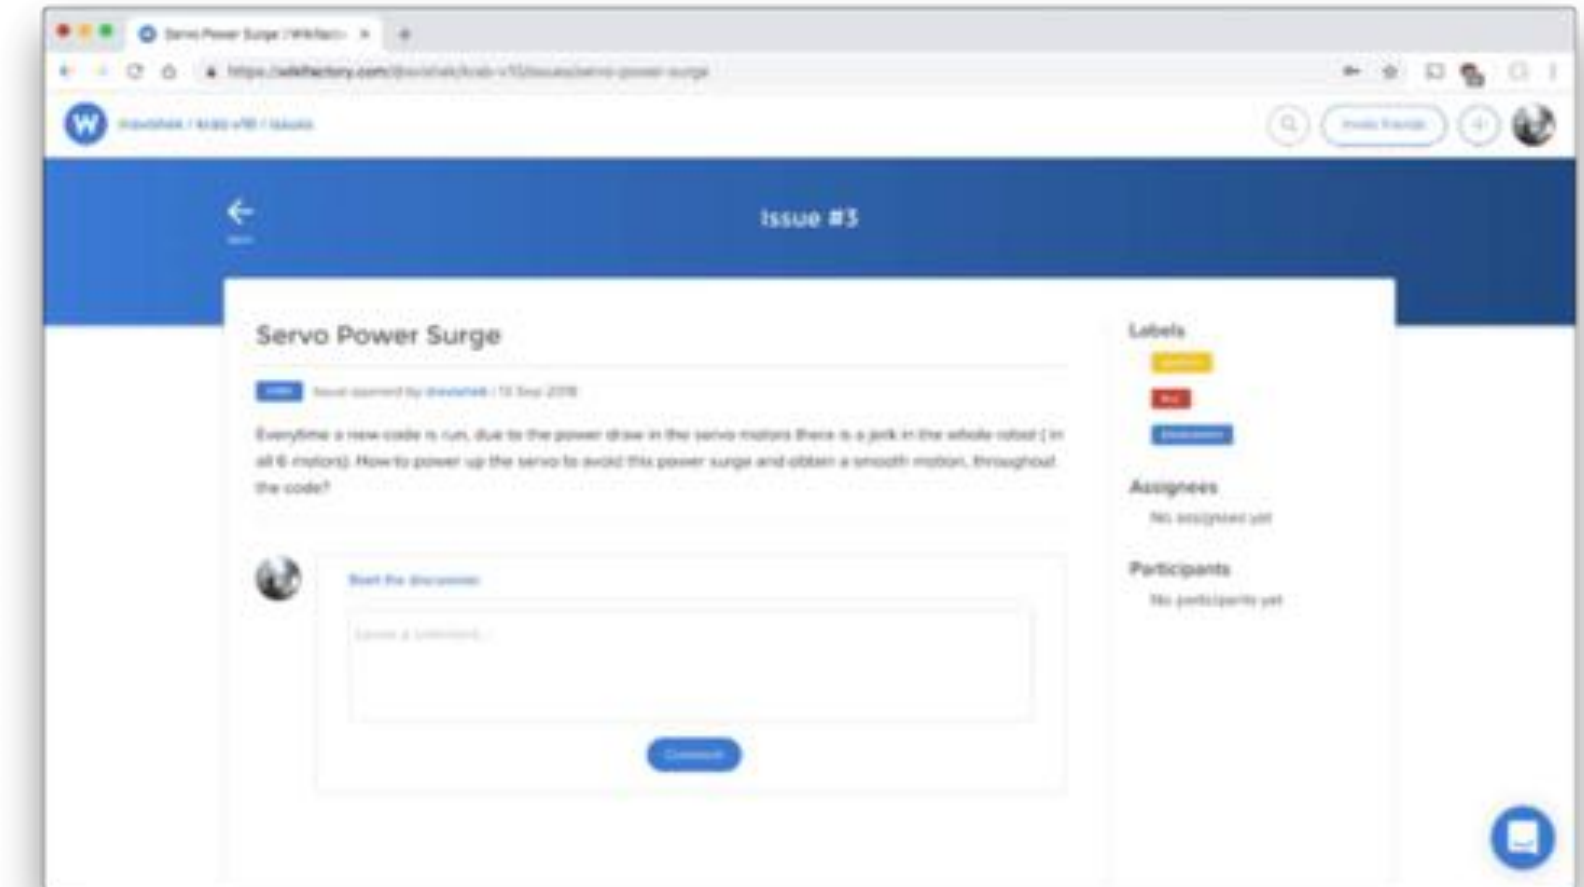

Available on Desktop, Tablet and Mobile

Version-controlled Drive

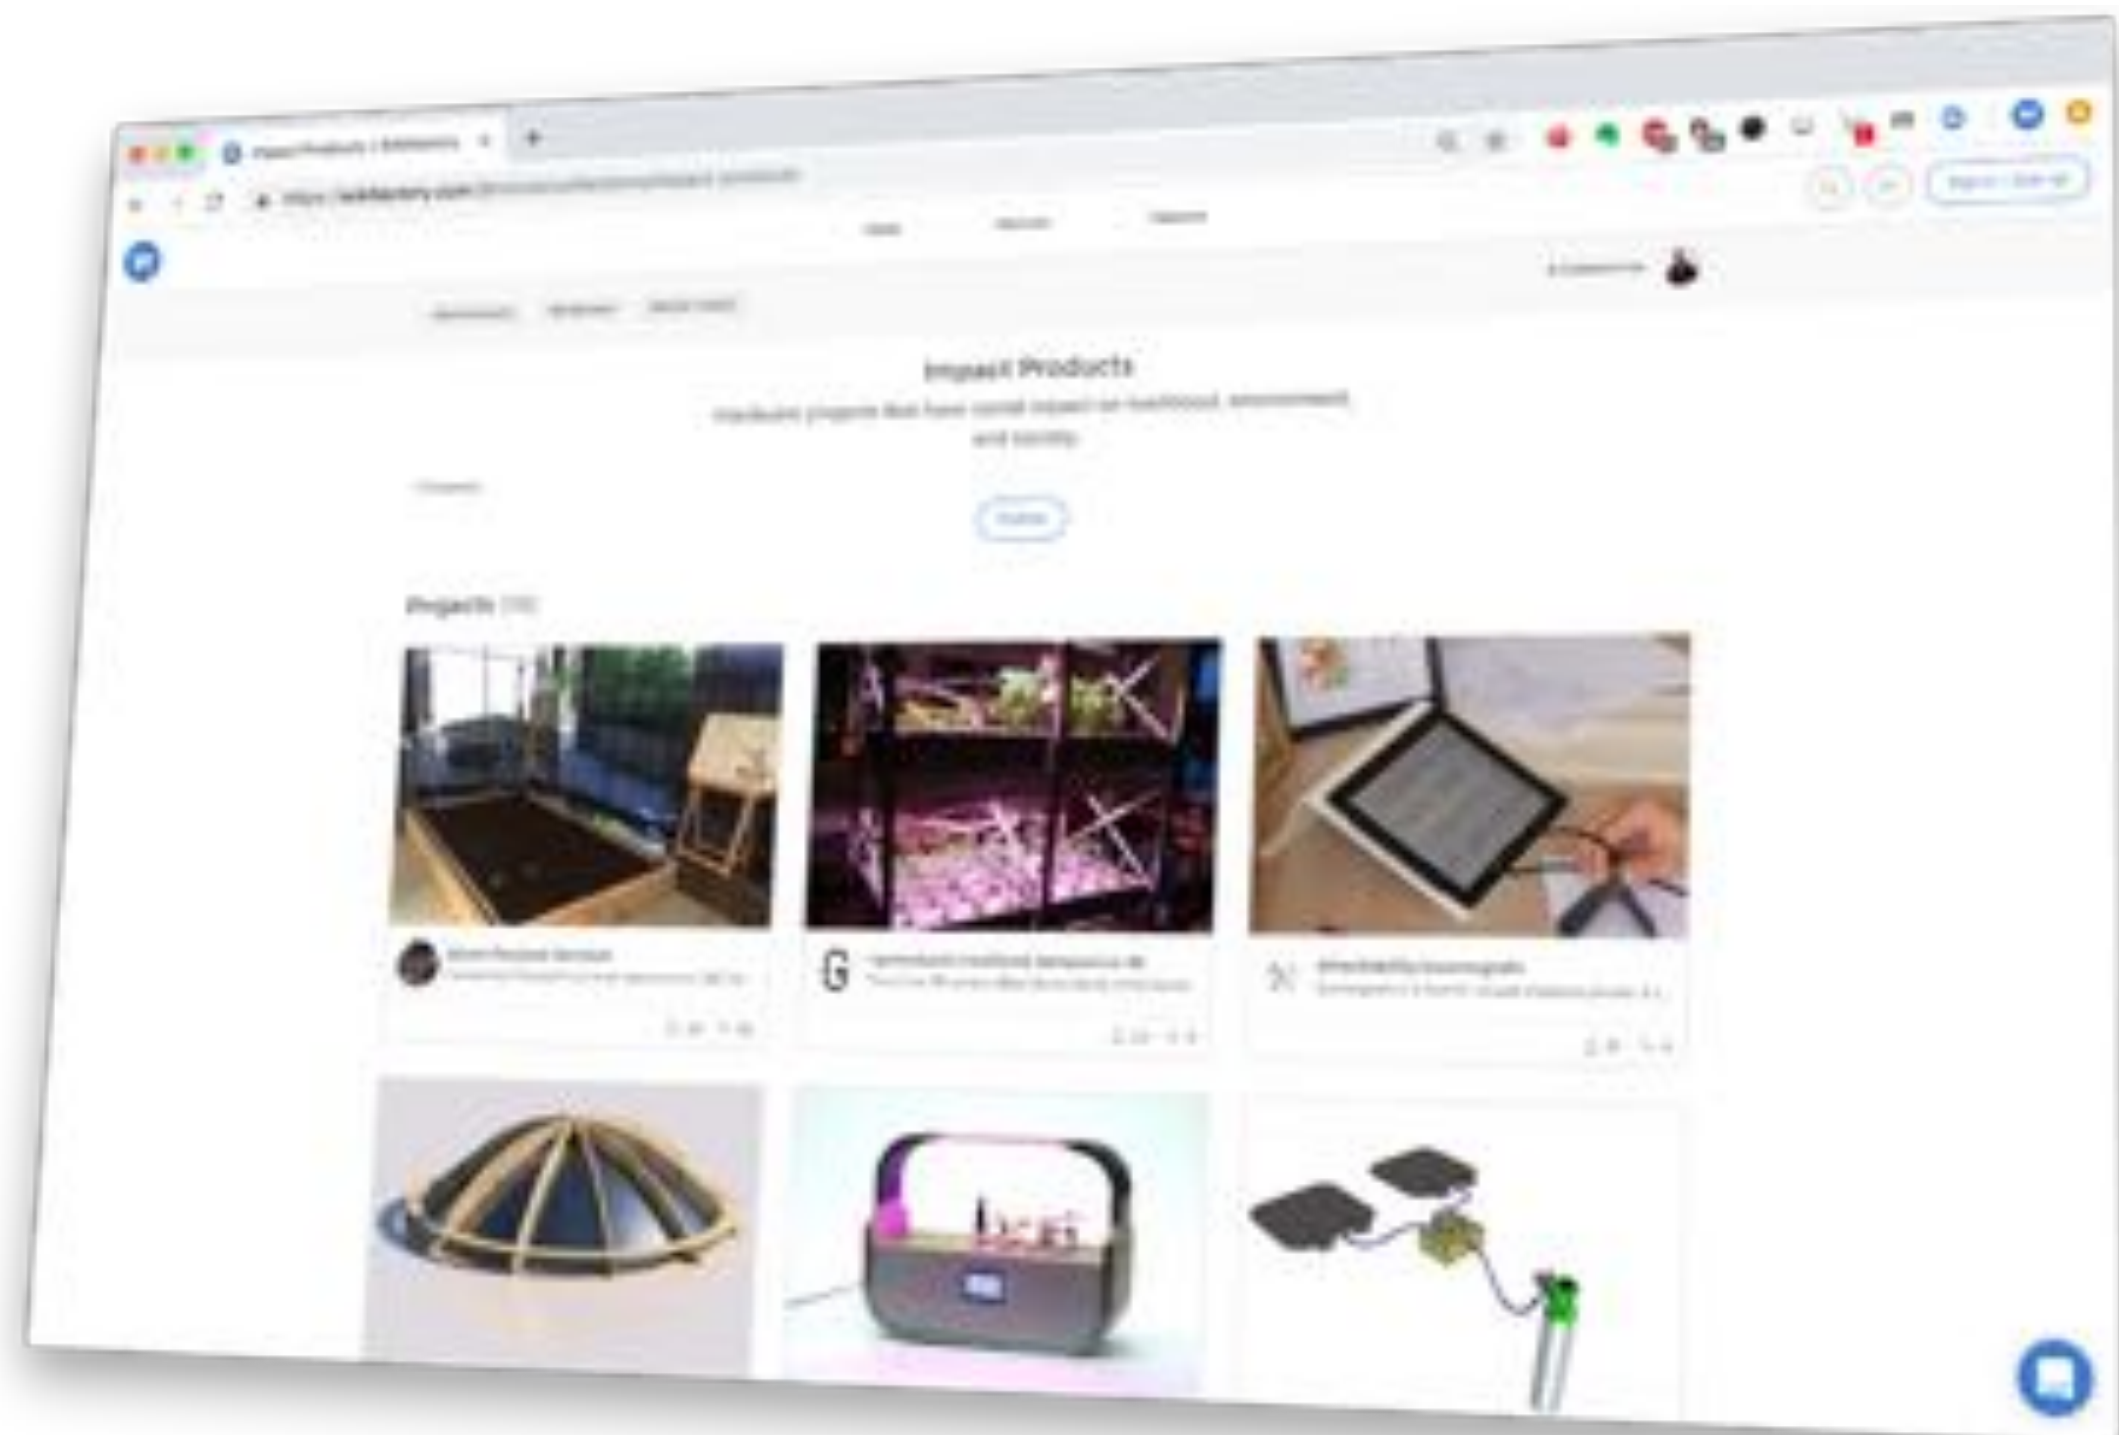

Feedback & Documentation Systems

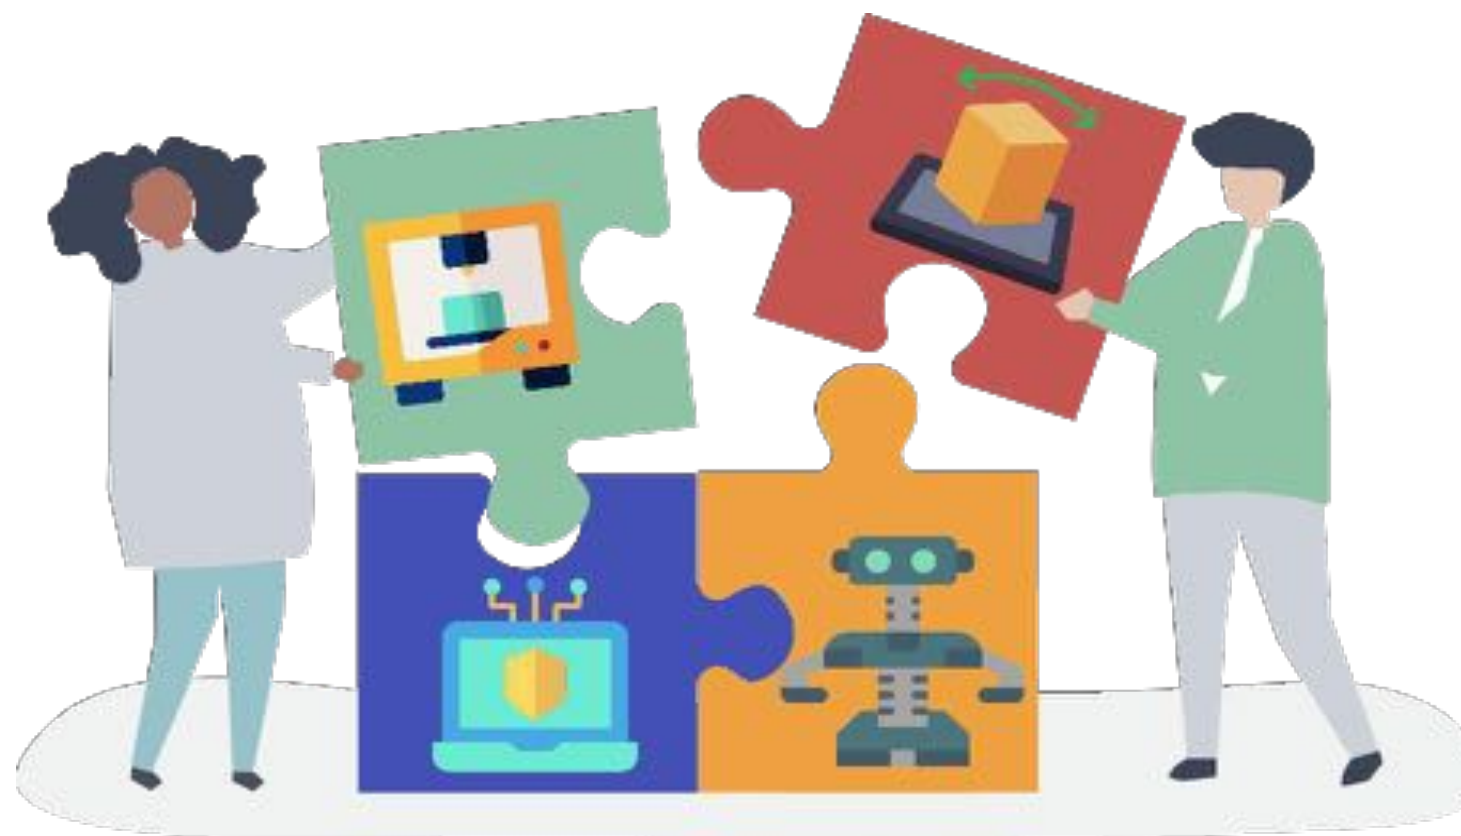

Community Tools

The community on Wikifactory wish to contribute their product development skills for good.

Solving sustainability issues through open collaboration

875 projects on Wikifactory 290 SDG related projects 54 Dual SDG projects

Examples of the projects behind the numbers

SDG 4: Quality Education

Humanitarian hardware innovation

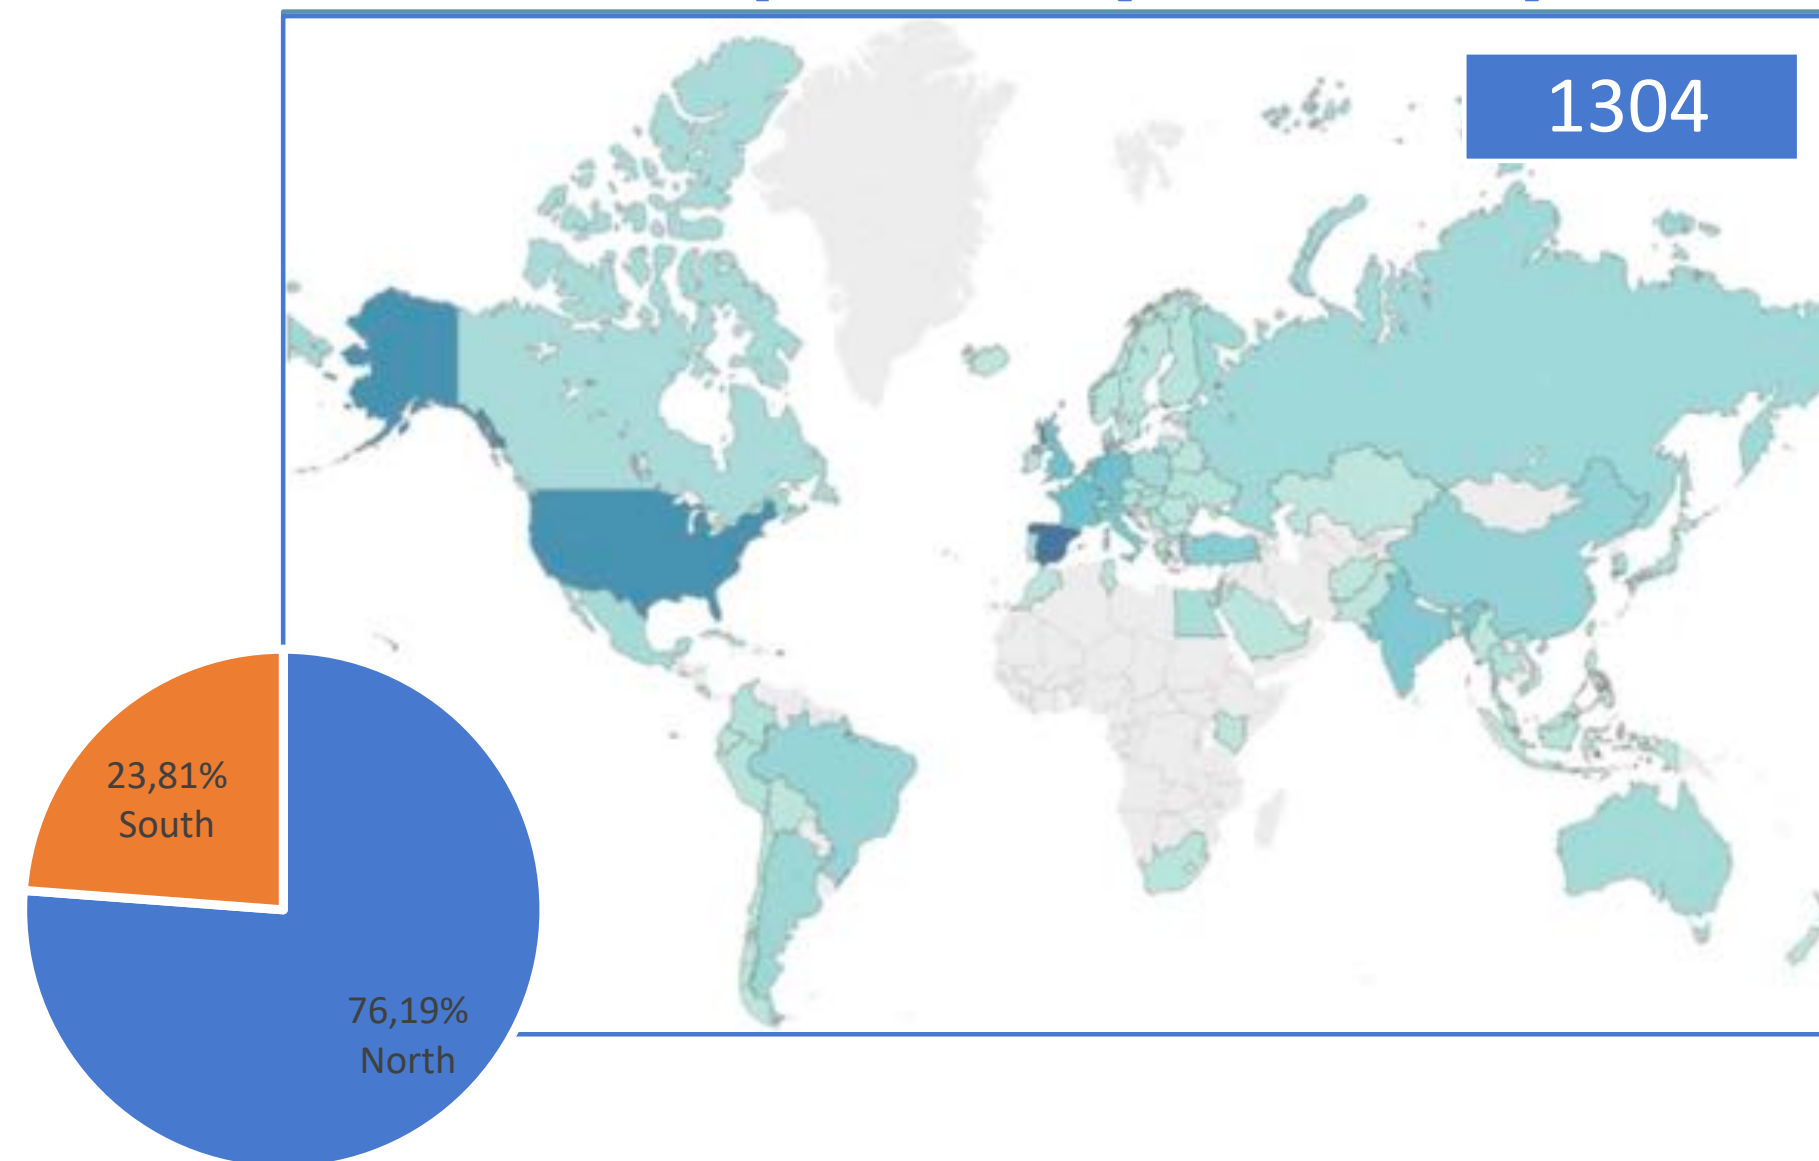

SDG 12: sustainable production

Our impact SDG 17.6: enhance cooperation on and access to science, technology and innovation... through a global technology facilitation mechanism...

Users as of April 2018 (10 months)

Users as of February 2019 (10 months)

How can we invite more engineers and product designers to contribute their skills to sustainable development?

